AT DELMONICO'S.

SPEECHES BY CLARENCE A. SEWARD, THE PRESI-DENT, AND OTHERS-THE CONVENTION

TO END TO-DAY. The convention of he Alpha Delta Phi fraternity was continued yesterday, morning and afternoon, at the Masonic Temple. There was a large attend-ance and much business of importance was transseted. Both the morning and afternoon sessions were strictly secret, and information regarding the proceedings was refused. The members of the fraternity and the delegates are much pleased with the reception given to them by the Alpha Delta Phi Club on Thursday night. To-day there will be only one session, in the morning, and then the delegates will return to their colleges.

The dinner at Delmonico's last night was one of tolliest and most enjoyable feasts that have ever been given in that place. The men were all of one mind. There were no politics to be dised, and no obtruse subjects to be spoken of It was just a jolly dinner, with songs, music and impromptu speeches by men who know how to ceak. Nearly 250 men gathered around the long chestra was not playing the Alpha Delta Phis sang. and the singing was better than the music of the band. The delegates from the different colleges were grouped together at the different tables. The were group; result of this was that when "Brown" cheered, "Amherst" followed closely; and then all the other colleges had a turn in delivering their respective war whoops. The tables were handsomely decorated, and the "Star and Crescent" were in evidence everywhere. Clarence A. Seward, president of the fraternity, resided. On his right were Everett P. Professor G. B. Newcombe, W. C. Brownell, Charles Sprague, the Rev. J. N. Blanchard. Clark and Alexander Hutchins. At his left sat the Rev. W. A. Matson, Talcott Williams, Charles L. Colby, W. W. Niles, A. P. Ketchum, S. W. Dunning, the Rev. E. O. Flagg and G. P. Ludlam. The industrious orchestra played whenever a chance to do so presented itself, which was not often. Even as the clarion crow of the rooster is answered by his neighbor rooster, so were the cheers of the delegates from one college at by responsive cheers from the other colleges. College songs were sung, and in tune, too. The old boys showed that they had not forgotten the days when, as students, they sung "the old songs we know so well" so they sung them again last night, and with a vigor that made the electric lights and with a vigor that made the electric lights blink.

It was not until nearly 10 o'clock that Mr. Seward arose and made a brief address. When the gray-haired president of the fraternity got up from his chair he was saluted with a burst of cheers and applause which lasted for some minutes. He welcomed those about the tables and spoke of the success and prosperity of the Alpha Delta Phi. The prospects of the fraternity, he said, were unbounded, and he strongly advocated a freer intercourse between the chapters.

Professor George B. Newcombe, of Williams College, spoke on "Alpha Delta Phi as a Social Influence," and T. Williams, of Philadelphia, on "Alpha Delta Phi as a Civic Influence," Charles L. Easton, of Chicago, had for his theme "Our Western Brothers," and was followed by Charles L. Colby, who had something to say on the indisputable fact that "The East is Still in Existence," W. L. Foss was the last speaker, and he had for his subject "The East and West in Alpha Delta Phi—Extremes Meet."

Among those present were C. S. Whitman, C. H. Colt W. F. Dest! James W. Bain, Guy A. An-

THE LEGISLATURE AND ITS WORK.

MUCH TO COMMEND, MUCH TO CENSURE

From The Utica Heraid.

There is much to commend, and much that is indefensible in the record of the Legislature of 186. The honors are with the Assembly for reform measures passed. Failure to keep the party's pleiges in important particulars is chargeable to the Schatesto a combination of the solid minority of that body and three members elected as Republicans. By the and three members elected as Republicans. By the arcereancy of these three the party has been placed in a faise position. In works accomplished the Legislature has rendered signal service.

DEMOCRATIC CRITICISM OUT OF PLACE,

From The Troy Times. Troy has good reason for condemning the Legislature of 1895. But Troy does not blame the Legislature as a whole as much as it does Speaker Fish. The criticism of Republicans by Republicans will be of no aid to the Democrats. If some Republicans have failen to their level the fact is no warrant for elevating the Democracy to power.

THE CONTEST BETWEEN REFORM AND BOSSISM.

From The Mail and Express.

The contest between reform and bossism has been severe and bitter. Its most mortifying and disgraceful feature is found in the fact that an unofficial, private citizen has been permitted to insolently arrogate a practical dictatorship over the legislation of this Empire State. It is a relief, however, to know that the battle has been fought out to its bitter end. It is true that important measures of reform legislation have been passed. But their passage were concessions rejuctantly wrung from the hands of contumacious legislators, and this only in response to the united voice of the people and to the urgent demands of the Executive of the State. From The Mail and Express.

THE SENATE A STUMBLING BLOCK. From The Syracuse Post.

The chief obstacle in the way of reform seemed to be the State Senate. Some of its members were not elected last fall, and did not feel under obligations to the reform sentiment which permeated the fall compaign.

JUDGED BY A HIGH STANDARD. From The Binghamton Republican.

The Legislature has been judged, as is proper, by a higher standard than has been held up for a good many years. MUST PUT AN END TO PLATT BOSSISM.

From The Buffalo Commercial. The Republican party must condemn and reject the most conspicuous betrayers of its honor and the public trust, and put an end to the Platt bossism, or people will not put confidence in it.

PLATT WILL NOT RULE THIS CITY.

From The Philadelphia Times.

New-York City has not lost all the fruits of the reform victory of last fall, for the Power of Removal law, which Platt seems to be sorry he allowed his Legislature to pass, has enabled Mayor Strong to appoint some very good officials, and during his term of office Mr. Platt will not rule the during his term of office Mr. Platt will not rule the

Mr. Masterson, an elder, walked to the platform and read his views, which he had written with evi-ient care. He said Mr. Peters had called the elder brother some very hard names, and some of the congregation thought the elder brother had not had fair show. Christ evidently had intended the der brother to represent the good people of the world, Mr. Masterson thought. The elder brother could look his father in the face and say he had never transgressed his commands. It was to show the human side that the elder brother had been introduced. To represent the elder brother as a mean and wicked man was to take away some of the force of the parable.

Mr. Masterson brought the parable down to date Mr. Masterson brought the parable down to date in a story about a young man whom he called "Tom," who scandalized his wealthy father and steadygoing brother until he was allowed to take his share of the patrimony and go to Europe. The family heard reports of "Tom's" wild doings in Paris for a time, and then there was an interval of peace. One evening the elder brother went home to the family mansion in Fifth-ave, and was surprised to find the house illuminated and to hear the music of a brass band inside.

"What's the meaning of this?" he asked of a servant at the door.

"Why," was the reply, "Tom has come back and the old man is giving him a great blowout. It was perfectly right and natural, Mr. Masterson said, for the elder brother to be angry and refuse to go in.

A BIG BLAZE IN CANAL-ST.

DAMAGES ESTIMATED AT $50,000 AT NOS. 210 AND 212.

Fire broke out in the premises of the Souweine Manufacturing Company, makers of mirrors and picture frames, on the second floor of No. 210 Canalst, half an hour after the building had been locked up at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Before the firemen could get the flames under control the flames had completely wrecked the interior of the building and done $5,000 damage. The origin of the fire is a complete mystery, but so far as the firemen could discover there was nothing suspicious about it. Three fire companies quickly responded to the alarm sent out, but by that time the fire had run up and down the elevator shaft and spread to the next building. At 7 o'clock, however, the flames subsided, and the wrecked building could be overhauled. There was no one in the building when the fire started, so that no one had been in any danger except the firemen.

The buildings, which belong to an estate managed by George Walker, of Centre and Canal sts., sustained 5,600 damage. In No. 210 Canal st. J. Trueheart, the "Globe" hatter, who occupies the J. Trucheart, the "Globe" hatter, who occupies the ground floor, lost $3,000; the Souweine Manufacturer of bone and rubber novelties, $2,000; the Empire Fringe Company, $10,000, and J. H. Leiter, maker of furniture gimps, $2,000, several of these firms occupied also a portion of No. 212, where J. Cohen & Co., clothiers, lost $40,000, J. N. Young, successor to A. Fuchesi & Co., roll and ribbon paper makers, $3,000, and Emanuel Souweine, a wood carver, $1,000.

seems to be taking a good rest. He said when he arrived here Thursday that he had some private business to attend to, but if he has, the business is being neglected while he is recuperating from the hard work of his recent law case in Indiana. He received a number of callers yesterday, but spent the larger part of the day with his daughter, Mrs

McKee, and her children.

The ex-President was at the breakfast table of the Fifth Avenue Hotel by 8 o'clock in the morning. Shortly after he sat down, Senator Proctor. who was Secretary of War under President Har-rison, strolled into the dining-room. The greeting between the two was cordial, and they are breakfast together. Politics, so both say, had no part in the conversation, and immediately after breakfast Senator Proctor left here for Vermont. After breakfast a stream of cards began to go up to his room. He received a number of callers. Among them were John Sabine Smith, ex-Governor Hogg of Texas, ex-Governor Cornell of New-York, Colonel Frederick D. Grant, General Horace Porter and ex-Congressman Frederick Mills, of Connecticut. General Harrison in reply to in juites concern-ing his portrait, which he is to have painted, said:

"Congress made the appropriation to pay for the Picture, and the privilege of choosing the painter was given to me. I selected Eastman Johnson, and we shall get started as soon as possible. I feel first-rate, and expect to make a very handsome picture."

Then the ex-President laughed in an amused way. When asked about the pose, and where he would sit, General Harrison said:

sit, General Harrison said:

"That will be decided later. I will have to talk with Mr. Johnson. I shall probably sit in his studio. I see it is reported that I may change my quarters to the Hotel Netherland in order to be near Mr. Johnson. I don't think I will change. I know my way around this hotel pretty thoroughly, and I feel at home here."

About 11 o'clock the General went out, and after a walk went to the Hotel Netherland and had luncheon with Mrs. McKee. After that he visited Mr. Johnson's studio. He had dinner with Mrs. McKee, and returned to his hotel early in the evening. It is said that General Harrison is to give the first. Sitting for his portrait to-day.

hypocritical person, a representative of the people who practise religion for what they can get out of it. He invited the members of the congregation to give free expression to their views. Criticisms of the condition of the Broadway Taberson has been the pastor over a year. These re-ports have aroused the resemment of nearly all the congregation, and have called forth many warm defences of the pastor. Dr. William M. Taylor for many years was the pastor of this congregation and attracted many people by his strong personality and his ability as a preacher. He cently after a lingering illness of many months. A little over a year ago it was decided that he must permanently retire from active life, and Dr. Henry A. Stimson, of St. Louis, became his successor That Dr. Stimson does not call out the entire ap proval of a few members of his congregation is perhaps true, but that he has the hearty support of the great majority of the congregation seems The Tribune has received a letter from W. N Hendrie, of No. 86 Fulton-st., which voices his sentiment about the Broadway Tabernacie. This

New-York, May 15, 1895.

To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: Some time ago a statement appeared in your valuable paper regarding the Broadway Tabernacle Church, in which it was said that the uptown movement was affecting this old landmark. As it is looked upon as a city institution by many, it is a fair subject for inquiry. The report of the society for 1894 has been in circulation for several months, and I will show from it that the Tabernacle is rapidly decreasing in membership, rapidly increasing in debt, and also shows a heavy decrease in contributions for benevolent purposes. It seems obvious to any one who will give the matter some attention that there must be some other cause to account for this state of affairs and this sudden change besides the "uptown movement," for the report issued in 1891 (the last full year of the lafe lamented Dr. Taylor) showed a membership of about 119, whereas the report of 1894 gives a membership of Sci., proving the "uptown movement," had not affected the Tabernacle so recently as 1891. I ask what is it that has affected this church so seriously and so sudienly in so short a time? How can this be explained? Quoting from the report of 1894, only thirty joined from other churches, and but five of these from churches he low Fifty-ninth-st, the majoraly of the others leaving the city. On the other hand, eighty-four members withdrew, forty-eight of these going to churches below Fifty-ninth-st, the majoraly of the others leaving the city. Does this go to show the "uptown movement" is the cause of the exodus or the reason why so many are isaving and going to churches not far distant, and so few joins. New-York, May 15, 1895. To the Editor of The Trib exodus or the feas-in why so few join-ing?

During the last full year of Dr. Taylor's pastorate seat rents realized $2,000, $42,000 was raised for benevolent purposes, and the society was free from delt. What do we find in the report for ISM? Seat rents realized $1,500, 500,000 was raised for benevolent purposes, and there was a debt of $30,000 on the church, so that the mortgage for $50,000 on the church, so that the mortgage for $50,000 on the church, so that the mortgage for $50,000 on the church was more than had spent before it was secured, and it is only a question of a very short time when another will have to be taken on the property, as the Hoard of Trustees estimates the expenses for 1850 at $1,400, the income at $1,500, a deficiency of $12,900, making the debt at December 31, 1895, $1,200. From these figures, all taken from the report of the society for 1831, 1 do not he state to say the "unown movement" is not the cause of the decline of the Broadway Tabernacie, which is further proved by several prosperous churches in the vicinity and even turther downtown, nor will a location further uptown assist the Tabernacie out of its present embarrassments. I ask again what is it that has caused such a change in that time-head ored institution, the Broadway Tabernacie Church, during the last two vars? This letter was shown to Caleb B. Knevals at his office, No. 20 East Twenty-third-st., by a Tribune reporter. Mr. Knevais is one of the oldest members of the Broadway Taber-nacle and is the secretary of its Board of Trustees. He said: "I consider that a very cruel and unkind attack on the church. I exceedingly regret it. There has been some dissatisfaction expressed There has been some dissatistation expressed the part of some members of the church about Dr. Stimson's style of preaching. They say that it is not what it should be, but the measure of success in church work is not to be judged solely by platform preaching. The church in some departments has prospered under Dr. Stimson's pastorate as it never has before. The letter signed W. N. Hendrie professes to be based on the official reports of the church officers, but on close inspection it will be found that the figures have been arranged very unfairly and evidently with the deliberate purpose of misleading the public. In one case the figures are entirely inaccurate. The writer says that the membership has been reduced from 1.100 to Sil since membership has been reduced from 1.100 to Sil since 1891. On the face of it this is true; but he falls to state that the committee has just been over the church rolls and stricken off a lot of names that should have been taken off long ago. Some of state that the committee has just been over the church rolls and stricken off a lot of names that should have been taken off long age. Some of these names are those of dead people; thirteen others are those of people who moved away during Dr. Taylor's pastorate. The church roll has been neglecied a long time and under the stimulus of a new postor the committee went to work to purge the roll of all superfluous names so as a to get it down to a solid basis. The writer of this letter falls to state this very important fact.

"Then the writer tries to show that the membership of the church is steadly decreasing. He says, and correctly, too, that in 1834 only thrity joined from other churchies, and only five of these from otherches in the city. He goes on to say: On the other hand eighty four members withorew, forty-eight of these going to churches below Fifty-ninth-st., the majority of the others left the city. Now, this is a very unfair way of putting it, because the writer says nothing about the large number who have been added to the church and is much pained by it. He spoke to me on the sale-ject and pertinently asked: What is to be the measure of successful church work? In spite of all the severe adverse circumstances of coming into a position made vacant by the death of br. Taylor, after a prolonged illness, Dr. Stimson has accomplished wonders. Large accessions have been made to our membership on confession of faith, and that certainly is better than increasing our members by drawing from other churches. The organization for the fiscal year just ended, which had had the church after Dr. Taylor, after a prolonged illness, Dr. Stimson has accomplished wonders. Large accessions have been made to our membership on confession of faith, and that certainly is better than increasing our members by drawing from other churches. The organization for the fiscal year just ended, which is the litrgest sam it has ever raised from the surfered so situe that many of those who left the church after Dr. Taylor's death die in t a great work and has the support of the majority of his people." When seen by a Tribune reporter yesterday, Dr. Stimson said that he never replied to a per conal attack. Cornelius N. Itliss also was seen by a Tribun reporter, but he refused to discuss the matter for ther than to say that he considered the criticism ther than to say that he considered the criticisms a very unkind and unjust attack on the church and a great discourtesy to its pastor.

A prominent member of the church said: "I am free to confess that I don't like Ir. Stimson's style of preaching altogether myself, but we must remember that he has an exceedingly difficult place to fill. He is now in the second year of his pastorate. I he lieve in giving him a full three years' trial. He came at a time when the strength of the church had been put to the severest test by the protracted illness of Dr. Taylor, Dr. Stimson has been laboring under many adverse chroumstances, but I think he is coming out all right, and should at least have a fair three years' trial before judgment is pronounced against him. No man can fill the place made vacant by the death of Dr. Taylor. Dr. Stimson unquestionably is an able preacher, although there are some in the congregation who think that he does not come up to the deaired standard or, rather, style of preaching which they expected."

REAL, LIVE ELKS AT THE GARDEN.

A HERD OF TWENTY-TWO ARRIVES IN GOOD CON-DITION-THE INTERESTING SPORTSMEN'S EXHIBITION TO END TO-NIGHT.

Square Garden. At last the long-expected animals from Wyoming have arrived, and yesterday they formed the chief object of interest at the Sports-There are elks, twenty-two of them, at Madison men's Exhibition. Ira Dodge, to whom the elks belong, left the Garden on Thursday night and went to Weehawken, where his pets had been corralled, owing to some misunderstanding with the railroad people. When the sturty guide left the show, he announced that he would not return "cikless," an he arrived at the Garden with the beasts, and by o'clock they were safely penned. "I have hunted have had hard times doing so, but if I ever go elk hunting again in Weehawken you can call me what you please and it'll be all right."

The elks showed signs of hard wear, but they were gentle and gratefully accepted the attentions paid to them. The pens containing the elks are surrounded by elk horns, but the animals them cives are hornless.

The young man in the tank received his usua attention. He paddied around in his duck "boat" and showed the people how comfortable a man can be in the water. The great merit of this contrivance is that a hunter equipped with one of them is as safe in water as on shore. The "boat," for such it must be called, although it is small and compact, is unsinkable. The wearer has his legs in rubber boots, and the "boat" extends around hi waist. Thus accourred the sportsman can take chances which he could never dare to do if in any ordinary ducking-boat, for the outfit is practical indestructible and positively non-sinkable, ordinary ducking-boat, for the outfit is practically indestructible and positively non-sinkable. The agents for this simple but ingenious supplement to the warbrobe of enthusiastic sportamen, want this plainly understood, and will give practical instrations of their claim at any time. The men who visit the Garlen-that is, the men who know all about guing-diff from one gun exhibit to another and get a little bit mixed up. The display of shotguns is so large and so many different patterns are shown that it would take a wise man to make up his mind what kind of gun to buy after having made a tour of the booths. And all the guns are beauties. The military rifles are of great interest to the many members of the National Guard who have visited the exposition. Models of the guns used by every nation are shown, and for compactness and good workmanship these arms are wonders. A "cadet" rifle designed for boys in military schools is worthy of mention. It is a sensible arm, light and well balanced, and admirably suited for target practice. The hammer is long, so as to facilitate the holding of the gun at "support arms," and the guns are well sighted. The exhibition of stuffed animais continues to be a drawing card, and the spectacle of the poor oid buffalo being dragged down by wolves fascinates and at the same time. These reds cost arms where from $2.50 to $50. The crowds vesterialy aftermon and evening were large. The band played, the performers on the stage delighted the visitors, and the show, as Charles chamberlain remarked, was "a hooming success." Efforts have been made to have the exposition kept open another week, but they have been abortive. The Garden is in demand, the bleyeic heads, having tre-empted the read to be and demand the floor, so the

A SERENADE FOR EDWARD KEMP.

TRIBUTE FROM HIS ASSOCIATES IN THE TTH REGIMENT ON THE EVE OF HIS DE-

Edward Kemp was last night serenaded at his home. No. 722 Fifth-ave., by the band of the 7th Regiment. The serenade was arranged by the officers of the regiment, who desired to show their esteem for Mr. Kemp, who sails to-day for Europe on the steamer La Touraine, accompanied by his family, for a tour of the Continent, Mr. Kemp last month entertained the officers of the regiment at month entertained the officers of the regiment at the Buckingham. He joined the regiment in itsil, and served with it through the war, and although competent man. The resolutions were adopted, and served with it through the war, and although the has always preferred to remain a private, he is however, after Colonel Grant was directed to make

Mr. Kemp is held by the entire regiment. The regiment came to a halt opposite Mr. Kemp's house at 9.35 o'clock, and while the officers were entertained inside, the band, under the leadership of Mr. Rogers, gave a delightful musical pre-

The privates, who were in a happy and focular mood, varied the programme by insisting that the hand play "Tommy Atkins." They were hamored, and then they sank "Oh how dry I am!" and had lots of their own peculiar fun, while the large crowd standing nearby, appliaded loudly. Mr. Kemp, at the beginning of the programme, appeared on his doorstep and saluted the regiment, but could not be persuaded to make a speech. His reception of the officers was informal, and there was no speechmaking. The officers present were General Emmons Clark, ex-Colonel of the 7th; Colonel Appieton, Majora Kip and Abrams, Adjutants Appleton, Townsend and Weaver, Quartermaster Schucler, Captains Conover, Palmer, Baird, Dewson, Fisk, Rhoads and McLean, and Lieutenants Bement and White. The Rev. Dr. Brown, rector of St. Thomas Episcopal Church, and Dr. Gibbert Wylle were also present. It has been arranged that as La Touraine passes Governor's Island to-day a flag sainte, by order of the commanding officer, will be given for Mr. Kemp. Mr. Kemp has not decided when he will return from abroad.

OUTVOTED, GEN. LEW WALLACE RESIGNED. Indianapolis, May 17 (Special).—General Lew Wallace to-day accepted his appointment as a member of the Board of Regents for the Soldiers' Monu-ment, and the Board held its first meeting this morning, after General Wallace had filed his bond in the sum of $10,000. Major Menzies moved that no changes be made in the monument such as outlined in interviews with General Wallace printed in th daily papers here. Major Menzies's motion was carried by the votes of himself and General Kneder. carried by the votes of himself and General Kneder.
General Wallace voted against it. Afterward General Wallace introduced a resolution providing for the removal of the figure Indiana from the top of the monument, and that the four statutes in the monument places be only of Indiana soldiers actually slain in battle. This was defeated by the same vote, and General Wallace announced that he would tender his resignation this afternoon. He did so.

MORE TROUBLES FOR THE COTH.

CAPTAIN COLEMAN TRIES TO REORGANIZE COM-

PANY E, BUT GENERAL FITZGERALD OBJECTS. Another phase of the troubles in the 69th Battallon came to light last night at a meeting of the company which Captain Hugh Coleman has been trying to form. Captain Coleman, who presided at the meeting, immediately made known the new busi-ness, which is a kind of side issue. He said that he had been trying to reorganize Company E, and to get it into the battalion again, purely for the sake of the men, and to make the battalion again a regiment. "But," said Captain Coleman, "yesterday afternoon I met General Louis Fitzgerald in the Equitable Building, and he took me to his office there. He said that he had heard that I was reorganizing Company E, and told me that he was opposed to it. I told him that he had no right to be so, and that I ought to be allowed to try to build up the battailon, and, if possible, put it back on its old basis as a good regiment. The General said he did not like the idea of my again entering the service, especially in the 69th, and that he hoped I would desist from any further active co-operation in building up this company. He charged me with not at any time having had more than 10 per cent of men on the floor at inspection. I told him that perhaps that was true, as I was not a man to ring in other men not belonging there. I told General Fitzgerald that General McAlpin had said that I might go ahead and form the company. But General Fitzgerald said he hoped that I would not do so. Therefore, being still a member of the National Guard, and under orders, I cannot further participate in the formation of this company, much as I hope for its ultimate acceptance by the 69th

THE NEW POLICE BOARD'S WORK.

CAPTAIN REHLLY RETIRED-RULES THAT FELL INTO DISUSE UNDER THE OLD COMMISSIONERS DEFFERSON MARKET INVESTIGATIONS.

At the meeting of the Police Board yesterday At the meeting of the Police Board yesterday, the chief cierk submitted a list of all the roundsmen on the force, giving the record of each officer and his length of service in the Department as well as the date of his promotion. Colonel Grant introduced a resolution providing that all members of the force selected by the Board of Police for promotion, except those to be promoted to the rank of roundsmen, should first be promoted to serve on probation for a term of six months. As roundsmen hold a rank which, in military life is known as that of "non-commissioned officers" and from which they can be reduced to the grade of patrolmen at the pleasure of the Board of Police, Colonel Grant recommended that the captains of

The following other officers were also retired: W. Rogers, of Detective Bureau, $1,009 a year. Eighteen patrolmen were also retired on $700 a year each. The applications for retirement of Captain Creeden and Detective-Sergeants Kush and Crow-ley were referred to the Pension Committee for further report. The officers retired were twenty-year men and veterans who have been over twenty years on the force. The application of Sergeant John J. Taylor, of the Steamboat Squad, for retirement, was denied, since charges were made against Taylor before the Lexow Committee.

Inspector Coulin made a report relative to the charges made by John C. Coleman, attorney of the West End Protective League, against Captain Gallagher, of the West Sixty-eighth-st. station. Mr. Coleman asserted that there were saloons open Sundays in Gallagher's precinct, and that the Captain's attention had frequently been called to the violation of the law. Captain Gallagher said that he was constantly doing everything in his power to enforce the excise law. Inspector Conlin stated that the Captain had always performed his duty properly and made all possible efforts to have the law observed. The Inspector also set forth that the Captain has all along been willing to co-operate with members of the West End Protective League in the enforcement of the law.
"We want no whitewash of this matter," said

"We want no whitewash of this matter," said President Rooseveit; "this should be further investigated."
Commissioner Andrews said that several gentlemen had called upon him and complained of neglect of duty on Captain Gallagher's part. It was decided to refer the complaint against Captain Gallagher to the Committee on Rules and Discipline for a full investigation.

President Rooseveit called attention to the fact that Rule 49 of the Police Manual was systematically violated by members of the force. This rule requires patrolmen, when called off their post, to make a report in writing at the station houses. Commissioner Rooseveit said that none of the officers who have been on trial before him for being absent from post compiled with the rule in question.

absent from post compiled with the rule in question.

They seem to evade that rule altogether. I want to know why this rule has been disregarded by patrolinen, roundsmen, sergeants, captains, and even the Chief of Police. The former commissioners seemed to have paid no attention at all to this rule. Colonel Grant will draw up a resolution calling the attention of all members of the force to the fact that the rule in question has been systematically violated and that from now on all rules will have to be strictly enforced.

As a result of the trial of Patrolman William Williamson, of the West Thirty-seventh-st, station, before the Commissioners Thursday for permitting a prisoner named Francis Murray to escape from Jefferson Market Court, Inspector Conlin was directed to prefer charges against Sergeant Michael E. Foody, Roundsman Thomas McGee and several of the policemen detailed in the court for neglect of duty, Inspector Conlin was summoned to appear before President Roosevet later this afternoon and draw up the charges.

Board. He said: "If that is the case, that Schm berger had a grant of amnesty, then, of course, shall not go into the charges against him." CONEY ISLANDERS TO SUE BROOKLYN.

THE HOTEL PROPRIETORS AND SHOPKEEPERS WHO WERE BURNED OUT ON THURSDAY RETAIN COUNSEL FOR THAT PURPOSE.

On account of an alleged lack of proper protection On account of an alleged lack of proper protection against fire, the burned-out hotel proprietors and shopkeepers of Coney Island have engaged counsel to bring proceedings against the city to recover their losses. Mr. Eldridge, the Brooklyn lawyer, said yesterday that he had been retained to bring suit in three cases. "I have not the slightest doubt that we shall be able to recover," said he. "We pay our taxes and license fees to the city and they owe up taxes and license fees to the city and they owe us ordinary protection from fire, which has not

Coney Islanders unanimously attribute the greater part of the loss by Thursday's fire to the failure of part of the loss by Thursday's fire to the failure of the city to give them protection against fire. Dr. Albert Chambers said: "Fire Commissioner Wurster promised that we should have a paid department by January 1 at the latest. Since that time I have been to him time after time. I have begged, implored and demanded that we have facilities to fight fire if it came, and have prophesited to him just such a disastrous fire as that of Thursday. When I found that all this did no good, I told him plainly that we would hold him and the city of Brooklya responsible for damaer; that if I was burned out I would sue the city and would get all my neighbors to do the same. To all of our appeals his only answer was 'We have no money.' And yet the city has received our taxes and our excise money. If this money had been properly spent for the beneat of the town, we could have had our paid department."
